POLICY PROVISIONS

1. Purpose and Scope

Adiyogi Jnana Foundation accepts voluntary contributions to support its charitable, humanitarian, educational, medical-assistance, community-welfare and other lawful activities, subject to its governing documents and applicable law. This policy applies to contributions made through the Foundation's official website and other authorised contribution channels.

2. Indian / Domestic Contributions

Eligible donors in India may contribute through payment methods made available by the Foundation, including authorised payment gateways, approved UPI payment methods and bank transfer. Domestic contributions will be recorded and utilised in accordance with applicable Indian laws, the Foundation's charitable objectives and internal financial controls.

4. Foreign / International Contributions

Foreign contributions are subject to the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 2010 (FCRA), applicable rules, amendments, notifications and other regulatory requirements. The Foundation will accept foreign contributions only when it is legally eligible to receive them and all applicable requirements have been satisfied. Where FCRA registration or prior permission is required, foreign contributions will not be accepted until the relevant approval is valid and applicable.

5. FCRA and Regulatory Compliance

The Foundation will maintain appropriate controls to distinguish domestic and foreign contributions and will comply with applicable FCRA, banking, tax, accounting and reporting requirements. Where FCRA applies, foreign contributions shall be received and handled through the banking arrangements and accounts required under applicable law. Payment-gateway capability does not itself establish FCRA eligibility.

6. International Payment Processing

Where legally permitted and specifically activated for the Foundation's account, international contributions may be processed through an authorised payment service provider. Gateway approval or availability of international cards does not replace FCRA eligibility or any other statutory requirement. The Foundation may decline an international transaction where applicable legal, banking, compliance or payment-provider requirements cannot be satisfied.

7. One-Time and Recurring Contributions

The Foundation may offer one-time and recurring contribution options. A recurring contribution requires the donor's authorisation through the applicable payment provider and is governed by that provider's mandate terms. Cancellation of a recurring mandate prevents future authorised deductions but does not automatically reverse contributions already successfully processed. Foreign recurring contributions will be accepted only where legally permissible.

8. Designated / Specific-Purpose Contributions

Where purpose selection is offered, donors may indicate a preferred charitable area such as General Support, Medical Assistance, Food & Essential Support, Education, Community Welfare or Disaster / Emergency Relief. The Foundation may apply funds consistently with the stated purpose, programme requirements, applicable restrictions and law.

9. Donation Acknowledgement and Tax Benefits

The Foundation may issue an acknowledgement or receipt for successfully received contributions. Any tax benefit or deduction is subject to the donor's eligibility, the Foundation's applicable approval status and prevailing tax law. No tax deduction, 80G benefit or similar benefit is guaranteed merely because a contribution is made through the website.

10. Donor Information and Data Handling

The Foundation may collect information reasonably necessary to process and acknowledge contributions, maintain financial records, communicate with donors, meet statutory obligations and prevent fraud. Donors should not provide UPI PINs, CVVs, passwords or complete banking credentials through ordinary website forms. Personal information is handled in accordance with the Foundation's Privacy Policy.

11. Fraudulent, Unauthorised or Non-Compliant Transactions

The Foundation may investigate, suspend, reject, reverse or report a transaction where permitted or required if it appears fraudulent, unauthorised, suspicious, misleading, unlawful or inconsistent with payment-provider or regulatory requirements.

12. Refunds and Cancellations

Contributions are voluntary and generally non-refundable after successful processing. A refund may be considered in exceptional circumstances, including duplicate payment, technical processing error, unauthorised transaction or an incorrect charge. Refund requests are governed by the Foundation's separate Refund & Cancellation Policy. Cancellation of recurring contributions affects future deductions and does not automatically refund prior successful contributions.

13. Transparency and Record Keeping

The Foundation seeks to maintain appropriate records of contributions and their utilisation and to comply with applicable accounting, tax, FCRA and reporting requirements. Donors should retain transaction confirmations and reference numbers for their records.

14. Policy Amendments

The Foundation may amend this policy when necessary to reflect changes in applicable law, FCRA requirements, tax rules, payment systems, banking arrangements or organisational procedures. The current version published on the official website will identify its effective and review dates.

IMPORTANT COMPLIANCE NOTICE

International payment capability does not, by itself, authorise an Indian NGO to receive foreign contribution. Foreign contributions must be accepted only where the Foundation's FCRA status / prior permission, applicable designated banking arrangements and other legal requirements permit the transaction.

Publication control: Final website version dated 14/09/2026. Review whenever the Foundation's FCRA status, tax approvals, banking arrangements, payment gateways or applicable law changes.
